

What is the important difference between these two signs?
Why are they different and where do they change?

Where would you find these signs? How many of them do you think there might be? Explain your answer.

Why do we have these signs? What do you think the pictures represent? Could you design a sign for your area?